One of the most pleasant sights as one nears Mechukha, is a tiny village with a rustic English charm – Dorjeeling. A few houses spread across open grasslands make up this beautiful village that provides a distinct feeling of freshness. The common sights here are houses built with wood, families engaged in the truest sense of organic farming, and horses grazing the grasslands. Walking through the village landscape is sure to help admire and appreciate the soothing natural environment, undisturbed by mass human encroachment and other pollutants.

A favorite hangout event for adventure enthusiasts, the Mechukha Adventure Festival is as exciting as anything else. The festival became a hit as a result of film star Salman Khan and Union Minister Kiren Rijiju cycling over the hilly terrains of Mechukha. The three-day festival includes a range of activities over air, land and water.

Aero sports: propelled glider and micro-light glider rides, paragliding and aero-modelling, trap shooting, Land adventure: mountain biking, trekking, cycling, rock climbing.

Water based activities: river crossing, rafting, rappelling.

Dates are awaited for the next edition of Mechukha Adventure Festival.

Go Local at Mechukha: Homestays

Source: <https://travelthehimalayas.com/mechulka>

Mechukha is best experienced by staying with its people, at their homes enjoying pure, unadulterated and a joyous comfort that is rare. The more than 50 homestays that operate here provides insightful glances into the unique culture of the land. Hosts are more often than not, open and warm in their interactions with travelers, always eager to provide information about their daily lives, customs and traditions.

Food is normally cooked at the common dining area, in front of guests while giving suggestions about places to go, things to do, and of course inspiring stories about other tourists. As in everything else, homestays at Mechukha are pure and free from pretenses.

Booking your homestay: Most hotel / holiday portals and search engines enable seamless booking of homestays at Mechukha.
